

A few people responded to a post-luncheon survey. All responded positively and thought it met the collaboration/networking goal. Some found the activity to be rushed and competitive. Those surveyed enjoyed the Powerdrill but suggested it be at the beginning. Further discussion will be made about introductions of all in attendance.

Of 55 RSVPs, 38 attended the luncheon. Photos were taken of all attendees and a directory is being made. Personal invitations were most effective and helped increase collaboration.

Next PIC Alliance Luncheon will be at the Provo Library, Bullock room, 309 on June 12th. The theme will be "Moving to Action."

More PIC members will be recruited to help with the next luncheon.

Born Learning

Go to bornlearning.org to learn more about the national campaign.

A survey has been conducted to determine level of awareness of Born Learning and most effective means of contacting young parents.
